Quality Begins With Construction

Of course, Hornet's advanced engineering and computer-aided design and manufacturing technologies make a difference in the durability and sturdiness of each and every travel trailer and fifth wheel we manufacture.

But there's another important component. Manufacturing is about people. And at Hornet, we are proud of a workforce that has a high standard of quality. We are fortunate to be creating Hornet products in a community which values workmanship and craftsmanship.

When it comes to craftsmanship, our cabinetry is a good example. Each component, as shown above, is carefully screwed together, not stapled. We also use high quality Lumber-Core cabinetry, not fiberboard, for long-term durability, just like you'll find in the finest residential construction. From its solid steel frame to its one-piece rubber roof, every inch of the Hornet you don't see is made with the same care as the Hornet you do see.

All Hornets and Hornet Lites offer outside-access storage, where you'll find pass-thrus on most models. The carpeted space is versatile and flexible for all kinds of gear and equipment you want to take along. Storage space is a priority with Hornet. Look for the (▲) on the floor plans, which shows the location of extra storage space.

Hornet's clamp-ring compartment door moldings have no exposed screws. This creates a much cleaner look and eliminates the possibility of leaks into your storage areas. Finger pulls are provided for ease of opening.

Ultra-Lube axles are a feature of every Hornet. Don't take your Hornet to the shop when it's time for lubrication. Just remove the cap, hook up a grease gun, and the job will be done in a few minutes.
